

Everglades National Park – Student Interpretation

Imagine you are at Everglades National Park! Read the description below and draw to the best of your ability.

Sky. All around, high, low, sideways, in front and in back. It is mostly vivid blue, though a handful of white clouds hover lazily. Almost everything is sky except the sea of grasses, reeds, and meandering streams that stretch beyond the limits of my eyes. The silence is broken by the screeching of birds and then a flock of long-legged, curved-bills ibises descends into the grass.
