

Imagine: Craters of the Moon, Idaho

Imagine you are visiting Craters of the Moon. Read the description and draw the picture to the best of your ability.

Dark, rippling fields of jagged rock stretch as far as the eye can see, like a frozen ocean caught mid-wave. Cones of black ash rise sharply from the earth, some glowing red at sunset as if still burning inside. Between the lava flows, patches of sagebrush and wildflowers push through the cracks, bringing sudden bursts of green and purple to an otherwise otherworldly, moonlike landscape.

Your Picture

A large, empty rectangular box with a thin black border, intended for a student to draw a picture of the Craters of the Moon landscape described in the text above.
